ARTICLES AGREED VPON ACCORDING

to the good pleasure of the King, betweene my Lord of Brisac Marshall of France, and De Villeroy Counceller and Secretarie of Estate, delegated as Deputies in the behalfe of his Maiestie on the one side, and my Lord the Prince of Conde, first Prince of the blood on the other side : for a conference and agreement for the sedation and pacification of the troubles of the whole Realme and Kingdome.

First:

HE King is well pleased to admit and entertaine the sayd conference with my Lord the Prince, & other Princes, Dukes, Peeres, Officers of the Crowne, Barons, and all others, as well Catholiques, as of the Religion.

ligion pretended Reformed, which have beene assisting vnto, and are ioyntly con-ted with him: comprehending all the Deputies of the sayd Religion assembled at Nismes.

The said conference shall bee in the towne of Loudun, between certaine Commissioners deputed by his Maiesty, for the debating of matters with my Lord the Prince, & the other Lords afore-named, to begin the tenth of February following, or next ensuing.

And to the end that nothing shall trouble or interrupt so good a worke, it is purposely contriued and deuised according to the good pleasure of his Maiesty, that there shall bee a cessation of armes and all actions military through the whole Realme, and other countries vnder his Maiesties obeisance, as also within the soueraignties of Sedan and Raucourt:

noigil

to beginne for the behalfe and regard of the Prouinces of Poitiers, Xaintoigne, Angouane, Bretagne, Touraine, Anjou and Berry on the same day, that these present articles shall bee ratified by his Maiesty, whose will and pleasure to the same purpose, the foresaid Prince, shall explaine and discover within or before the thirtieth day of this present month: And in respect of the other prouinces remooued, and farther separated, the said suspension of armes shall beginne as soone, or the selfe same day, that this is published within the sayd Prouinces by the Gouvernours and Lieutenant-Generals of the same, to end and determine for all together, the first of March next ensuing, all which the said Lord Prince shall aduertise the same time to all such as haue any authority or commandement within the places and limitation acknowledging his soue-raignty, and vnited to his obedience: And to bring to passe, that the sayd suspension suspension of armes bee speedily put in practise, and executed through all the foresaid prouinces of the Realme, his Ma-iesty shall be humbly sued vnto and sup-plicated, that all diligence and expedition bee vsed for the expedite and necessarie publishing his commandements: and if it happen, that any person or persons, in giuing attendance on the sayd publication, shall be arrested as prisoners, after the sayd thirtieth day of the present month, it shall be published and reputed no good prize, and he or they shall bee presently released and discharged at the first motion and demand, made both of the one side and the other.

During the said suspension of armes neither of one side nor other, shall there be made or raised any bullwarkes, trenches or fortifications within the townes or other places taken and surprized, since the first of September last, nor any raising or leuie of souldiers, or men of armes with.

within the Realme and countries subiect to his Maiesties obedience.

And to preuent, lest the approach and proximity of the armies bring with it any alteration or disturbance to these proceedings, it is agreed vnto, according to the will & good pleasure of his Maiestie, that none of his Maiesties troops be resident or passe ouer on this side the river of Claine: also that during the said conference his Maiesties forces retire beyond the river of Vienne, not approaching or comming neere the foresaid towne of London by eight leagues: But whereas the garisons which may seeme necessarie for the search and security of all places remaining on this side the sayd riuers of Vienne and Claine, may yet raise a further suspicion and iea-lousie: By order and commission appointed from my Lord the said Prince, or such to whom he shall put in trust for these af-fares, the number of men shall bee appointed and reviewed, which shall be ad-red into the same places, and for the same purpose.

In like manner none of the troopes of armes of my sayd Lord the Prince shall come neere or approach to the towne of Poitiers during the sayd suspension and conference, by the space of sixe leagues, nor lodge beyond the river of Tou, nor in the prouinces of Anjou and Bretaigne beyond the sayd river of Tou: and concerning the garrisons, which may seeme necessary and conuenient for security, and maintaining the places belonging to my said Lord the Prince, the which may also affoord matter of ieaiousie and suspicion: there shall bee the same order appointed for the ouerseeing them by his Maestie, or such to whom hee shall commit the the trust of such affaires.

And for the behalfe of the Prouince of Nandigne none of the troopes shall lodge within within Tailbourg, nor aduance about the river of Charante.

 Touching the other Provinces his Maiestie and our sayd Lord the Prince, haue deputed and ordained, that euerie one shall rule and command the troopes therein to liue modestly, and conformable to good orders.

 My sayd Lord the Prince during the conference, and for the security and patronizing the businesse, may lodge 100. men of armes in the towne of the Ile of Bourchard, and about 800. men within the precincts of Londun, as also 400. horse about the said town of Londun in such places and quarters, which shall be after named, & thought conuenient by his Maiestie, or such, whom it shall please him to delegate and appoint.

The troopes of the sayd armies, who are to retire by the commandement or licenses of the said Gouvernours, and seeme willing to obey the pleasure of the sayd Lords, Princes, Dukes, Peeres, Officers of the Crowne, and Lieutenants of the King, may performe the same, and passe with all security and assurance, aduertising the Gouvernours of the townes and places, by which they must passe, or others to whom they are to be obedient, of their licenses and patents to depart accordingly: wherein notwithstanding they shall not troope above 20. and 20. at a time,

These articles were decreed vpon and determined in the presence, and by the consent and aduice of my Lord the Duke of Nevers, in the towne of Fountenay the county, the 20. of Ianuary, 1616.

Signed Brisac, De Neufville, Henry of Bourbon, and Charles De Gonzague de Cleues, as present.

These

These articles were published and exemplified in the presence of the King, accompanied with the Queene his Mother, the Lords the Dukes of Guise and Elbeuf, my Lord the Chancellor, my Lord the Duke Espernon, the Lords Marshals of Boisdanphin and Souare, the Lord President Ianin, and diuers other Lords and Princes of his Councell; which articles his Maiestie hath ratified, approoued and agreed vnto, willing and commanding, that they bee kept and obserued from point to point, according to their forme and tenour, and that all letters and dispatches for the necessary & expedient execution of the premises, be presently signed and sent forth. Concluded & determined the 23. of Ianuarie 1616. at Chastellerault.

By

By the Kings appointment and authoritie, and my Lord the Prince of Conde, first Prince of the Blood, and Peere of FRANCE.

MY Lord the Prince of Conde having alwayes desired to make manifest and apparant his singular love and affection, which he hath ever borne toward the establisshing and confirming this Estate : and well pleased to hold the conference according to the following articles agreed vpon by the Lord of Brisac Marshall of France, and De Ville-roy Counsellor and Secretarie of Estate to his Maiestie, and his appointed Deputies for the same purpose, the 20. day of this present month of Ianuarie, and ratified by his Maiestie the 23. of the sayd month : doth ordaine and command according

to the said articles for the suspension of armes, and all actions militatives, that they bee ratified, confirmed and observed through all the prouinces, townes and places of the Realme, lands and territories subiect to his Maiesty, and under his command and iurisdiction, in the behalfe of his Maiestie : to beginne the day of the publication of these present ordinances, vntill the first day of March next ensuing; during which time there shall neither bee any attempt for the taking and surprizing of prisoners of warre, nor other practise of hostility of one side or other. To which end and purpose the said Lord the Prince doth will and command all Gouver-nours, and Lieutenant-Generals of his Maiesty ouer the said prouinces, townes and places, Bailiffes, Stewards, Marshals, Iudges, or their Deputies, Maiors, Sherifs, Consuls and Magistrates, Captaines in cheife, Commanders and Conducters of the men of armes, to whom it shall concerne and appertaine, to acknowledge his authority for the seruice, and in behalfe of the

the King according to his owne obedience to his Maiestie: and to make present publication of the same to see speedy execution, and prevent and amend any contradiction or transgression against the premises. Determined and concluded at Fontenay the Countie, the 1st of January, 1616.

Signed Henry of Bourbon, And beneath, By the Lord De la Grange.
